

ADVANCED DIPLOMA OF GOVERNMENT (PSP60116)

ONLINE TRAINING & ASSESSMENT PROGRAM Flexible Commencement and Completion

suitability guidelines apply

The Advanced Diploma of Government (PSP60116) provides certification of competency for public sector managers. This program may be completed as a generalist qualification or as a specialist qualification for investigation managers or fraud control managers. The generalist qualification is for people who have responsibilities that are diverse in nature, rather than specialised. The investigations specialisation covers the skills required to manage in an investigations environment within the public sector.

SUITABILITY GUIDE: This course is suitable for people currently employed as a public sector manager or people who have completed a Diploma of Government Investigations or any other Diploma from the Public Sector Training Package. It is also suitable for private sector managers who are seeking to transition laterally to a public sector management role. Other persons who believe they could successfully complete this course should contact the course coordinator to discuss suitability.

COURSE DELIVERY

Online training involves the supply of written learning materials supported by online video training sessions. Students have the option to participate in real-time or view a recorded copy of the training session at a later time.

Assessment will be facilitated by completing set tasks using an electronic workbook supported by online discussion-based video tutorials.
